A MEMORABLE YEAR.

LOOKING back over the year comparatively few whose that has just closed there are thoughts will go further than the latter part of it, for the shadow of a great war which has hung over practically the whole world since the last days of July has filled everyone's mind and occupied their time to the exclusion of everything else.

This is not the place to attempt even briefly to recount the events that led up to war, or to take up the tale of Britain, France, and Russia's patient endeavours to maintain peace; of Germany's perfidy, or of Belgium's bravery. Able pens have already done and are even now doing so. Locally, however, there is much to recall in the way that the town has shared in providing men, money, and material to aid the Empire's cause.

The first mutterings of the storm, as it affected local interests, were heard in the reports that reached town from the Territorial camps, where the local Battalions were concluding their annual summer training. Significant movements were chronicled, and the return to town of the Territorials was awaited with considerable interest. On the evening of Saturday, 1st August, the local contingent of the Forfarshire Battery, R.F.A., arrived from Buddon, and a section of the 5th Black Watch from Monzie, the service men of the latter Battalion having been ordered to their station at Broughty Castle. These men were allowed to proceed to their homes but were informed that they must report at their respective headquarters on the following Tuesday. Mobilisation had commenced. The news of these military movements only became generally known the following day, and that Sunday will be long remembered. Naturally, rumours of all kinds were rife, and there was a feeling of such tense excitement as no one living had ever experienced. On Sunday evening men of the Royal Naval Reserve, and Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve, recalled to the colours left by train, and affecting scenes were witnessed at the railway station amongst their friends of the fishing community. The days which followed were exciting ones. On Tuesday, 4th August, it had become apparent to all that war was inevitable, and military activity was everywhere apparent. On the forenoon of that day a little incident arising out of the strained relations between Germany and this country occurred at the harbour by the appearance of the German schooner Behrend, with pit props and oil cake for local merchants. The vessel was, of course, detained and the crew of six put under surveillance, and they and their boat became a centre of much interest to the townsfolk. On Wednesday, reservists who had been recalled, left to join their various regiments, and the local members of Fife & Forfar Yeomanry also left for an English station. As the men of the 5th Black Watch had practically all volunteered for active service outwith the kingdom those not already there were also drafted to Broughty, their first military duty including the guarding of the coast from Broughty northwards. Meanwhile the Forfarshire Artillery Battery were billeted in the Auction Mart, which became a centre of great activity. Under Government warrant the officers of this corps carried through the duties of securing suitable horses from owners in town and district with commendable promptitude.

Under these exciting and wholly unexpected conditions the populace, in common with that of every other town in the country, quickly settled down to facing the situation with calmness. There arose indeed, some little scare over the probable rise in price of provisions, and not a few helped to bring this rise about by buying in abnormal quantities of flour, oatmeal, and, especially, sugar, which looked like being run up to famine figures. As in every detail of this war, however, a sagacious Government showed itself able to meet every possible emergency. The Board of Trade took the matter in hand, issued a list of provision prices for stated periods, and the scare died out as quickly as it came into being.

Amongst the many things affected by war may be mentioned the decrease in railway travelling, which reacted upon the number of holiday makers who found their way to Arbroath as well as upon the number of those who journeyed from Arbroath for change and recreation. As the Government found it necessary to take over the entire railway system of the United Kingdom, reduced railway excursion fares were entirely suspended.

RESPONSE IN MEN AND MONEY.

Once the magnitude of the task to which the nation set itself was realised, efforts in every direction began to be put forth to meet the calls upon the resources of the country. An appeal by Lord Kitchener, Secretary for War, for 100,000 men to form a new army to serve during the war was loyally responded to in Arbroath. In fact there must be few towns of its size that have done better in this way. In addition to providing a large number of recruits for Lord Kitchener's Army, Arbroath was largely instrumental in increasing the 5th Battalion of the Black Watch to full War Strength, and also raised a Reserve Battery of the R.F.A. The number of men serving in His Majesty's Navy and Army, who belong to Arbroath amounts to a total of some 800 to 1000.

A strong force of Special Constables was enrolled, and a Citizen's Corps, composed of men under and over age for enlistment in the regular army, was formed to the number of 500.

In the providing of money and material to relieve distress and supply comforts for soldiers on active service the town has also borne its share. Following H.R.H. the Prince of Wales' appeal to the country for funds towards a National Relief Fund, Provost Rutherford Thomson convened a public meeting to make arrangements alike for the purpose of receiving subscriptions and of relieving distress. For these purposes a Committee was appointed, and a subscription list opened, the Town Chamberlain, Mr E. F. Cobb, being appointed treasurer. At a meeting held on the same day, the local Red Cross Society in conjunction with the local branch of Queen Mary's Needlework Guild made arrangements for the making of garments for wounded soldiers and the provision of comforts for soldiers in the field. The response made by the public to these and all other appeals was most ready and generous. Up to the end of the year the money subscribed to the National Relief Fund amounted to £3400. By the Red Cross and Needlework Guild, under the presidentship of Mrs Rutherford Thomson, with Mr R. S. Black as an indefatigable secretary, a large and regular supply of knitted goods and other comforts have been sent to the general receiving offices.

The Infirmary directors, though handicapped by the restricted and temporary nature of their accommodation pending the completion of the new and enlarged building, were able to offer the use of thirty beds for wounded soldiers should these be required. Interest in ambulance work received a great stimulus, and under the Continuation Class curriculum, very large classes were formed both in ambulance, and in plain needlework which worked in conjunction with Queen Mary's Needlework Guild.

As the days passed and it became known how terribly the Belgian people were to suffer by the German onslaught, the need for making some effort to alleviate their distress became apparent to many. Mr W. Cargill, the Belgian consul for Arbroath, having intimated that he would receive and forward donations in money or kind, subscriptions began to pour in for this very deserving fund, and many ingenious schemes were set on foot amongst the juvenile sympathisers to secure money for the distressed Belgians. Up to the end of the year Mr Cargill had forwarded a sum of about £930.

This sum included the proceeds of a sale of work held in the Public Hall on September 23rd, which amounted to £270. An entertaining tableaux-vivants concert, arranged by Mrs Norman Anderson, which took place in the Public Hall in December was instrumental in raising £129 for behoof of the Belgian Orphan Fund. A concert was also held on behalf of the Prince of Wales Fund, and numerous other gatherings have taken place with the object of benefiting the local relief funds. Several flag days have been held with encouraging success, a sum of £250 being raised in this way; and the sale of patriotic poems by local writers has been the means of materially augmenting the lists of the National and Belgian Relief Funds, and the Red Cross Society. A request by the Provost for blankets for the troops was heartily responded to by willing donors. Later, an appeal for comforts for the Indian troops at the front was issued by Mrs Alexander, wife of the ex-Provost, and this, also, was most generously met.

Two sales of work on behalf of Red Cross Society's Funds were held—the first in the High School, under the auspices of the Needlework Classes, realising £125; the second arranged by Provost and Mrs Thomson and the Red Cross Society, and held in the Public Hall resulting in the sum of £130. The money was used for the purchase of material for soldiers' comforts.

WELSH TERRITORIALS AT ARBROATH.

The duty of guarding the coast at Arbroath and district since the middle of August was delegated to a contingent of the 7th Battalion Welsh Cycling Corps. During their stay in the town, the Welshmen were hospitably entertained on several occasions and were taken a kindly interest in by townsmen.

A tragic accident befel one of their number, Lance-Corporal Hussey, whose patrol lay at the Red Head, seven miles from Arbroath in October. On the advance of colder weather, shelter huts were being erected for the use of the men on duty, and in the erection of these, large corrugated iron sheets were being used. A strong westerly gale was blowing on Monday, October 9, which threatened to blow the iron sheets over the precipitous cliff, 320 feet high at this point. In endeavouring to restrain them, Lance-Corporal Hussey was himself blown over, and met with instant death. A most impressive military funeral took place the following Friday, from St. Mary Church to the Eastern Cemetery, at which there was a full muster of deceased's corps, and of the members of the 5th Black Watch stationed at Forfar, and the local reserve Battery of the Forfarshire Artillery.

Meanwhile the Territorial regiments all over the country were training for whatever should be asked of them. The honour of being the first Territorial battalion to take the field in France fell to the London Scottish, whose fine valour and soldierly bearing in the trenches and in their now historic charges was learned of with pride at home. Five Arbroath young men were in this battalion at the front, and took part in the stirring deeds of this crack territorial regiment.

the community learned with a thrill of pride, if also with some suppressed misgivings that the 5th Black Watch had received their marching orders. The largest proportion of this fine body of men belong to Arbroath and the immediate vicinity and the order to proceed on active service touched a large number of Arbroath homes. The men themselves were in high fettle that they were the first Territorial Battalion in Scotland to be ordered to the front. The Battalion left Broughty on Saturday, October 31, for Southampton, and thence to Havre, from which they gradually approached the fighting line. They had many hardships to encounter, not the least of which was the cold snowy weather which prevailed in Flanders, from the time they arrived there. They were full of pluck and cheery good spirits, however, and from all reports that reached home, were able to play their part in the trenches under the enemy's fire with as fine a bearing as the seasoned warrior. "The Fifth," if they did not escape the dangers and hairbreadth adventures of active campaigning, neither did they miss the honours of war. Almost immediately after their arrival on French soil, while on the march they were met by Field-Marshal Earl Roberts on the occasion of his visit to the Indian troops at the front, and only two days before his death. The veteran soldier closely inspected the braw kilted lads, and afterwards warmly complimented their colonel on their very fine appearance. Shortly afterwards the Fifth were visited by General Sir John French who briefly addressed them, remarking that as a body of soldiers they were above the average, and wishing them well when they got into the fighting line. A visit was also paid to their billet by the Prince of Wales, and the crowning honour came in their inspection by the King during his Majesty's sojourn amongst his troops in France. On the occasion of the King's visit, it was no mere formal inspection that took place, for his Majesty made minute enquiries as to the conditions under which the men carried out their onerous duties, and especially requested that he might see them in their trench rig-out. Accordingly two Arbroathians donned their sheep-skin coats and other woollen comforts, and paraded before their King. It was a memorable event for those two at least.

ROLL OF HONOUR.

The Roll of Honour of those belonging to Arbroath who have given their lives for their country or who have been wounded in battle is a long one. Heading the list is the name of Lieutenant Joseph F. Webster, the second son of Sir Francis and Lady Webster, of Ashbrook. Lieutenant Webster, who was studying at Cambridge, at the very outbreak of hostilities offered for active service, and within a few days had obtained a commission in the 3rd Black Watch. Along with four fellow-students he was transferred to the 2nd Gordon Highlanders, a battalion which had previously suffered heavy losses, in officers particularly. On 30th October, Lieutenant Webster was killed in action, being shot in the head by a German sniper. The news of the young lieutenant's gallant death, was followed by deeply sympathetic and appreciative messages from his superior officer. Only four days before his death Lieutenant Webster's men were subjected to a particularly galling fire, and it looked as if the enemy would succeed in breaking through. This would have meant the exposure of the whole flank of the regiment, and realising the danger, Lieut. Webster sprang to the head of his men, rallied them to make another effort, which successfully repelled the enemy's onslaught. For this gallant deed, Lieutenant Webster's name was mentioned by his Colonel in the report forwarded to Staff-Headquarters. The deepest sympathy of the whole community went out to Sir Francis and Lady Webster, and the members of their family, whose great sorrow may be somewhat mitigated if that can be, by the knowledge that their gallant young soldier had played the manly part on the side of justice and liberty.

Other names to be inscribed on this local roll of those whose lives have been laid upon the altar of duty are:—Killed in action—Private William Laidlaw, Seaforth Highlanders; Stoker Wyllie, of H.M.S. Hogue; Private Joseph Smith, Cameron Highlanders, 8 Marketgate; Private John G. Smith, 1st Black Watch, 41 St Mary Street; Private Thomas Strachan, Black Watch, Culloden Road; Private Arthur Walton, Royal Scots; Robert Smith, Carmyllie, H.M.S. Hawke; John Hay Smart, Gordon Highlanders, John Street (died of wounds); Charles Macdonald, Black Watch, 3 South Grimsby (died from wounds); Franklin Gray, 44 High Street, H.M.S. Monmouth; Private T. Strachan, Black Watch, St Vigeans Road; Private David Hutton, 1st Black Watch, 46½ Marketgate (died from pneumonia); Private Samuel Farquhar, Cameron Highlanders, 11 Millgate Loan; Lance-Corporal James Glen, 3rd Black Watch, 33 Sidney Street; Private Jas. Graham, 2nd Black Watch, 14 East Mill Wynd; Corporal W. Rose, K.O.S.B., 18 Bridge Street.

One Arbroath member of the 5th Black Watch—George Bell, son of Enoch Bell, Rosebank—has also fallen in action. His name will be held in remembrance by his comrades who with him left home and safety to do their bit for their country. The latest reports from the front give the name of Private Norman Brown, a member of the gallant London Scottish, whose home is at Sandhutton, Addison Place, Arbroath, as having been killed in action.

Ere leaving the all-engrossing subject of the war, mention may be made of the very impressive military service held on the West Common on Sunday, 19th September, arranged by the Town Band, with the assistance of the Provost, and addressed by the Rev. A. J. Campbell, Barry, V.D., chaplain to the Tay Defences Mobilisation.

MUNICIPAL MATTERS.

If the year 1914 must be written down municipally as uneventful, this does not imply that the members of the Town Council Board have failed in any part of their onerous duties, and Provost Rutherford Thomson's first year of office has closed with a record of much good work done towards making the town which they govern a prosperous, healthy and happy one.

Early in the year the resignation of Councillor James Kydd caused a vacancy at the Board, which was filled by the appointment of Mr George Stewart as interim representative First Ward.

During the summer the Council chamber was greatly beautified by the entire re-decoration of the walls, the cleaning of the lusted chandeliers and the installation of electric light.

By the resignation of Mr D. McNeill, as Chief Constable, which took effect in April, the Council had the appointment of a successor. The position was filled by the selection, from amongst a large number of candidates, of Detective Inspector James Macdonald, of the Ayrshire Constabulary. Chief-Constable Macdonald, who came to Arbroath with an excellent record, has carried out his important duties in the Burgh with tact and considerateness.

At the Burgh Licensing Court in April, the new Chief-Constable, who had invited the attendance of all licence-holders in town, made important statements regarding the licensing of premises, and indicated that Arbroath was considerably over-licensed. Arising out of this, a strong protest was made by Bailie Dundas against the continuance of the Victoria Bar licence, which came up for transfer on the retiral of Mr Crockatt. The protest was not sustained, however, and the licence was continued. One or two licences have dropped during the year, through premises becoming vacant, and one public-house licence is under consideration.

In October Mr P. C. Smith, Burgh Surveyor, received an important appointment as Burgh Engineer of Dunfermline. While regretting his severance with Arbroath, where his work had been of the highest quality, the Town Council and Mr Smith's many friends were very cordial in their congratulations on the recognition which Mr Smith's abilities had received. The Council appointed to the positions which had been held by Mr Smith, Mr Thomas L. Brown, Hawick, who for some time previous had been chief assistant to Mr Smith. Mr Brown has had a most extensive training in the various subjects necessary to the equipment of a modern Burgh Surveyor with its multifarious duties, and from his experience under Mr Smith, was able to carry on the work of the department with the least possible disturbance.

By the death of Mr Robert Rust, who for a long number of years had very efficiently filled the position of Cemetery Superintendent and Collector, that position had also to be filled. The Council appointed Mr James Robertson, Letham Grange, as Superintendent. At the same time the collection of cemetery dues was removed to the office of the Town Chamberlain, as being more convenient to the public.

In common with other municipalities throughout the country, the Town Council made arrangements for the generous treatment of their employees who were recalled to the colours, or who might enlist for the war.

As a result of the election in November, there was only one change in the personnel of the Town Council, though there were considerable alterations on the appointments to positions within the Board. There was a poll in two of the Wards, viz:—in the First (High Street and Millgate); and in the Third (Abbey and Guthrie Port). As the result of the First Ward election, Mr Norman M'Bain took the place of Mr W. J. Anckorn; and in the Third Ward the two sitting members were returned with substantial majorities.

On the Magistrates Bench, Bailie A. C. Anderson was made 1st Bailie; Bailie A. M. Dundas, 2nd Bailie; and Dean of Guild Wilson, 3rd Bailie. Councillor Rollo S. Black was made Dean of Guild; and the most important change in convenerships was in that of the Gas Committee, to which Councillor A. Beatt was appointed.

ASSESSMENTS.

Unfortunately for the ratepayer, the requirements of the Burgh necessitated a considerable advance in the assessments. From 4s 10 $\frac{1}{4}$  last year—which was an increase of 1d on the assessment of 1912—the burgh rates were raised to 5s 3 $\frac{3}{4}$ d. This must be considered a very heavy burden, and it must be the constant endeavour of those who guide the expenditure of the town to very carefully manage the municipal finances.

INDUSTRIAL AFFAIRS.

As a community we have good reason for gratitude that during a time of stress and strain in so many industrial centres we have so far suffered lightly. "It's an ill wind that blows nobody good," is a trite saying, and the war, which has spelt disaster to so many, has brought increased business directly or indirectly to all of our important manufacturing firms.

In our staple industry, taken as a whole, business has been well maintained. For the first half of the year the demand for the various classes of goods manufactured in Arbroath was quite up to the usual, and all our mills and factories have been fully employed. War invariably brings increased demand for our textile goods and since the outbreak there has been no lack of orders. Those who hold large stocks of the raw material are exceedingly fortunate; for reports in the end of July of the new flax crops were not favourable and the estimated shortage is now given at from 30 to 40 per cent. This combined with the fact that all supplies through the Baltic are shut off has had the effect of doubling the price of flax. For the present, however, business for all classes of manufactured goods is strong, but with a continuation of the war for any lengthened period the outlook is serious, and betokens a lessening of mill and factory employment in town which it will be well to be ready to meet.

In our industrial life, engineering forms the next important section. At Dens Iron Works, Messrs A. Shanks & Son, have had a most successful run. All their specialties have enjoyed a brisk demand, and for the later months of the year the orders for their special type of marine engines have been greater than they could cope with. To meet the increasing demands for production, contracts have just been fixed for a considerable extension of their engine fitting shops.

At Westburn Foundry the unsettled condition of affairs in view of the prospect of war, brought about a considerable falling off in trade and short time had to be resorted to for some weeks. During the later months, however, orders are again so plentiful that the outlook for the immediate future at anyrate is reasonably hopeful.

With regard to the engineering works of Messrs Keith & Blackman it is pleasing to note that the extraordinary development foreshadowed in our last review, has been more than realised. In addition to the magnificent range of workshops now required to accommodate the fitting and erecting at Arbroath, the firm have, during the year acquired a large area of ground adjoining their offices in London, in which they have erected additional workshops and stores. Just prior to the declaration of war, the dislocation of trade led to short time being resorted to in the iron and brass foundries, but for the last few months, such has been the demand for urgent delivery of many of their specialties by the Admiralty, War Office, and other firms who are increasing their plant, that overtime has had to be resorted to. The firm's ventilating specialties are now being adopted by the battleships, cruisers, and submarines of His Majesty's navy, as well as to all the latest types of Mercantile Marine vessels and to coal mines at home and abroad, and it is noteworthy that such is the precision with which the parts of the various machines are manufactured in Arbroath that they can be assembled and put together without a hitch in distant parts. Another satisfactory aspect from the workman's point of view is that the varied and widespread demand for the ventilating, heating, gas lighting, and other plant manufactured by the firm have such a widespread demand that incidental local depressions are not likely seriously to affect it, and therefore regularity of employment is well assured.

Our boot and shoe manufacturing firms continue to find their operations restricted by the scarcity of leather, and the excessively high prices charged for material. Notwithstanding this however, both at Hill Road Factory and Abbey Leather Works, the usual volume of business was maintained until the outbreak of the war. Since that time orders on behalf of our own and the French Governments have been pressed upon both firms, and the difficulty has been to find men and suitable material to supply the demands. Overtime has been resorted to at both places, and orders are still well ahead of their powers of production.

THE BUILDING TRADES.

The building trades which have not been busy for a number of years can only be said to have slightly improved during the year. This has been mainly the result of the erection of two extensive jobs in the way of public buildings, viz., the new infirmary and the Public Baths; the reconstruction of the Palace Theatre in James Street, and a further large extension of the erecting and finishing shops of Messrs Keith & Blackman, which now practically cover the entire square from High Street to Gravesend, and from Lordburn to Applegate. In the case of the Infirmary and Public Baths the structural work is now completed, but a good part of the fittings and finishing has still to be carried out; the Baths Committee are hopeful of being able to have the work so forward as to permit of their being opened by the month of June. The erection of the large new workshops for Messrs Keith & Blackman at Applegate have been completed, and are rapidly being filled with special machinery. Recently plans were also passed by the Dean of Guild Court for an extension at Dens Iron Work for Messrs A. Shanks & Sons. Not much has been done to shop premises, but the upper part of High Street was improved in appearance by the fine new shop fronts put into Messrs Alexander Reid and Sons' property—now occupied by Miss Carrie, confectioner, and Mr Samuel Rathjen, ironmonger. A similar improvement was effected in West Port for Shepherd's Limited. Of new dwelling-houses there have been erected at Rosebery Place, a cottage for Mr J. B. Shield, Motherwell; in Salisbury Place, a villa has been erected and occupied by Mr James Simpson, joiner, and there is at present in the course of completion by Messrs Calder Brothers, builders, two cottages in Viewfield, while on the north side of Arbirlot Road, a villa has been erected for Mr D. R. Macdonald, and on the opposite side, a villa is in process of erection for Miss M. R. Calder. There have been 127 minor warrants issued—the greater number of which were for improvement of the sanitary conditions. For the coming year, the Prudential Assurance Company have arranged to erect offices at the corner of High Street; and the Town Council are practically committed to the erection of two hospitals—one for patients in the event of an outbreak of smallpox, and the other for tuberculosis subjects.

FISHING OPERATIONS.

The history of the fishing industry during the past year has been a somewhat chequered one. At the beginning of the year line fishing was prosecuted with a fair measure of success, and good prices were got. The herring fishing, however, was a complete failure—perhaps the worst season for several generations. The takes were very small and instead of two to three thousand barrels of herrings usually cured and exported there were only about 250. Shortly after the local herring fishing finished, war broke out and between the time-curtailments imposed by the Admiralty and several severe storms the takes were few and small, but there was compensation so far as the fisher-folks were concerned by the rise in prices which went up till they reached an unprecedented figure. From 30s to 40s per box for haddocks was a common range and on one occasion a lot was sold at 51s, and the same day codlings brought as high as 38s per box.

The character of our fishing fleet has been gradually undergoing a change through the introduction of motive power and the year now closing has shown this even more pronouncedly. At the beginning of the season there were 10 motor boats. At the present time there are 30—the honours being almost equally divided between the Kelvin and the Gardner engines—14 are fitted with the former and 13 with the latter. What is perhaps still more significant than bait and line fishing is still not regarded as a hopelessly antiquated method of securing the “harvest of the sea” may be found in the fact that four new boats have been added to the fleet during the year. These are:—“Violet,” “Trustful,” “Lea Rig,” and “Nellie and Annie.” Another in the course of completion for Mr Hugh Swankie, which is to be fitted with a 22 h.p. Gardner engine.

THE HARBOUR.

The trade at the harbour has not been brisk, and during the year there was an all-round decrease both on imports and exports. At the annual meeting of the Trustees it was found that the income, fortunately, just exceeded the expenditure, and it was not necessary to impose any rate-in-aid.

The trustees had some trouble over litigation in the Court of Session, the pursuers being the Arbroath Friendly Coal Society, who claimed that they were entitled to the same composition for the import of English coal as was allowed to the Gas Corporation for Scotch coal. The case was dismissed by Lord Ormisdale on the ground that the Harbour Trustees would be acting ultra vires in granting a composition to either.

LIGHT AND POWER PRODUCTION.

Under normal conditions the consumpt of gas and electric power forms a safe index of our industrial activity. This year, however, the ordinary deductions have been interfered with through the Admiralty order that street and shop front lighting should be reduced to the lowest possible. This has affected to a considerable extent the output at both stations during a period when the demand for light was greatest, and there has been a consequent decrease in consumption for the later part of the year.

The annual report of the Gas Works Committee for the year ended 15th May showed that the gas manufactured during the year amounted to 126,290,000 cubic feet, being an increase of 5,797,900 cubic feet over the quantity manufactured the previous year. The amount received for gas sold was £14,742 16s 7d, an increase of £619 3s 7½d on the sum received the previous year. During the year an up-to-date system of mechanical gas stoking was introduced and started in August, and on the occasion the convener of the Gas Works (Mr W. J. Anckorn) was presented from the contractors with a handsome piece of silverplate. The whole installation cost a little over £16,700. Since the vertical retorts were started there has been an increase in the quantity of gas made of 14 per cent. per ton of coal used, an increased production of tar of about four gallons per ton of coal used representing about 9d per ton, and it is estimated that there will also be an increase on other residual products.

At the Electric Station the large addition made to the generating plant has put the company in the position of being able to cope with any demand. For the reasons given above there is almost certain to be a falling off in the total consumpt for the year, but it is satisfactory to note that additional connections both for power and light continue to be made and that the energy supplied for the first months of the year was well ahead of the corresponding period for 1913.

PARISH COUNCIL AFFAIRS.

The events of the Parish Council's year have been most notable as regards the personnel of the Board. Its work of administration has been carried on with tact and ability under the capable chairmanship of ex-Bailie Duncan. The death of Mr J. H. Clark necessitated the appointment of a new member as well as of a new convener of the Poorhouse Committee, which office Mr Clark had held for a number of years. Mr W. A. Craig was elected to the vacant place in the Council, and Mr C. Y. Myles was appointed convener of the Poorhouse Committee. Only a few months later the death of Mr Myles again made a vacancy in the Council and convenership. Mr Thomas Espin was appointed ad interim a member of the Council, and Mr James Dewar became convener. In November the death occurred of Mr Dewar, and for the third time within a year the convenership of the Poorhouse Committee became vacant. Mr Allan Irons was appointed the new convener, and the vacant place at the Board has not yet been filled.

At the last meeting for the year the Parish Council had read to them the reports of the representative from the Local Government Board, who commended most highly the Parish Council's administration of the Poor Law, and the management of the Poorhouse.

EDUCATION.

Educationally the outstanding feature of the year was the important alteration on the constitution of the School Board. Early in the year Mr J. B. Frazer suggested that the membership should be increased, as the size of the town entitled them to have a larger Board than nine. The Department was communicated with, and they at once gave their consent to the number being increased to eleven. At the triennial election in March fourteen candidates, including all the sitting members, came forward to contest the eleven seats. All the old members were returned, with the addition of ex-Provost Alexander and Robert Brown; Mr D. Littlejohn topping the poll with 2493 votes.

The new Board at their first meeting elected ex-Provost Alexander as their chairman. The increase of the membership of the Board also permitted of larger working Committees to be appointed. The business before the Board was mostly of a routine nature. Correspondence with the Department in regard to the accommodation at Abbey School was continued at considerable length and the present position is that the Department have been informed by the Board that they are to proceed with the carrying out of the alterations on the school in accordance with the plans which the Department had approved during the forthcoming summer vacation.

As the result of the long continued epidemic of scarlet fever amongst school children in 1913 the Government grants, which are based on attendance, were greatly reduced, with the result that the Board had perforce to fall back on the rates for money to meet the expenditure. The rates were consequently increased by  $3\frac{1}{2}$  per £1. The following were the grants received:—High School, Secondary, £594; High School, junior pupils, £166 13s 4d; High School, relief of fees, £743 9s 5d; High School, elementary, £187 0s 3d; Keptie £1304; Abbey, £528 14s 2d; Ladyloan, £363 13s 10d; Parkhouse, £492 5s 10d; Inverbrothock, £608 8s 4d; and Hill School, £281 5s 8d. The grant for the continuation classes was also considerably less, namely, £845 2s 11d as against £938.

The enrolment for the continuation classes for the present session was a record one—namely 1022. The increase was chiefly due to a rush on the ambulance and needlework classes, which was one of the many subsidiary results of the war.

The resignation of the late Mr John Hunter, F.E.I.S., headmaster at Inverbrothock School, led to several important changes in the staffing. Mr James Guild of the Abbey School was appointed Mr Hunter's successor; Mr W. W. Royal was transferred from Parkhouse to Abbey School; Mr A. MacCallum from Ladyloan School to Parkhouse School, and Mr A. D. Gilbert from Hill to Ladyloan School. The vacancy in the headmastership at Hill School was filled by the appointment of Mr W. O. Brown, first assistant in Inverbrothock School. The outbreak of the war also led to numerous changes amongst assistants in the staffing of the schools. A number of teachers volunteered their services for their King and country and were accepted. The Board agreed to pay these teachers half their salaries during their absence on military duties and to keep their situations open. These situations are at present filled by teachers who have been given temporary appointments.

The Board had again before them, the question of teachers' salaries. By the casting vote of the Chairman, the salary of Inverbrothock headmastership was fixed at £250. At the July meeting the commencing salaries of the heads of Departments in the High School was fixed at £200 to rise to £240 by annual increments, as from 1st January, 1915, and the headmistresses salary was increased by £15. The salaries of junior male assistants were fixed to commence at £130 to rise to £150 by £5 instalments annually, and that the salaries of junior mistresses commence at £90 to rise to £130 by annual increments of £5. There was also an all-round increase in the scale of assistants' salaries in the elementary schools. Satisfactory reports by H.M. Inspectors were received on all the schools and for the leaving certificate there were 48 higher and 142 lower passes.

SCHOLASTIC.

For several years now former pupils of the High School have distinguished themselves at the universities to which they went to finish their education. This year has been no exception. At Edinburgh Mr James L. S. Smith, M.A., had conferred on him the degree of B.Sc., and was appointed lecturer in plant physiology; and on Mr F. Mann and

Mr James Nicoll Dick, the degree of M.A. At St Andrews Mr James A. Hood, had conferred on him the degree of B.Sc., and Mr David Mathew that of M.B., Ch.B. Miss Mary S. Lilley, B.A. (London), received the post graduate degree of M.A. and Master's Diploma of Education from the Columbia University, New York. The pupils at the school who were successful in gaining medals were:—English and French, Marie E. Turnbull; Greek and Mathematics, Alexander Renny; German, Elizabeth Sara Hay; Science, Jessie Ann Herron; and Art, Esther Smith Burns. The writing prize was gained by Daniel Bracelin, and the needlework prizes by Miss Bertha Jane King.

THE LIBRARY.

A year's valuable work can be chronicled of the Public Library. The annual report made in May showed a marked advance both in the quantity and quality of the books read, but the result of the interest taken in the news of war, in the latter half of the year acted adversely on book reading, and there has been a considerable decrease. Mr Butchart, librarian, after two years' capable administration of the institution, resigned the position on his appointment as Librarian to the Lindsay Institute, Lanark, and Mr James Johnston, from the Royal Technical College, Glasgow, was appointed his successor.

THE INFIRMARY.

The erection of the new Infirmary has occupied most of the year, and during the reconstruction, the institution has been comfortably housed in Greenbank House, which has filled the role of temporary infirmary in a most efficient way. A notable benefaction, intimated early in the year, was by the gift by Mrs Traill of £1000 for the endowment of a bed, in memory of her husband, the late Dr Traill. A question which had caused a good deal of feeling was settled, after considerable discussion by the amendment of the constitution in regard to the qualification of life-directors, to restrict the same in future to donors of £100 and upwards in one sum, in place of £20 as formerly. The Convalescent House continues to fulfil admirably all that is required of it.

ECCLESIASTICAL.

In the pastoral charges within the Burgh, only one change has taken place—that of the Rev. John M'Daniel of St Thomas R.C. Church who was transferred to Alloa, and succeeded by the Rev. John Stuart, from Lochee. The vacancy in the Baptist Church caused by the resignation of the Rev. Thomas Holehouse has not been filled up and the duties of the pastorate are meantime being carried on by ad interim pastors.

In December, Erskine U.F. Church congregation commemorated the centenary of its formation by special services in the Church, and in connection with which a special offering of £50 was taken for church purposes. Arbroath Parish Church during the year improved the lighting arrangements by the introduction of a new electric installation; and by arrangement with the Town Council the advantages of this system were extended so as to include the illumination of the dial of the town clock in the steeple.

The interior of Abbey Parish Church was re-decorated and a handsome memorial stained-glass window—gifted by Mrs Traill in memory of her grandfather, Alexander Mann, a former Provost of Arbroath, and of her husband, Dr Traill—was inserted in the opening above the pulpit.

Amongst other events worthy of record in religious work may be mentioned the presentations of certificates for long service as Sabbath School Superintendents to Mr James Nairn, Abbey Parish Church, and to Mr Andrew Philip, Inverbrothock

Parish Church; the celebration of the fifth anniversary of the Men's Own brotherhood movement, when a series of enthusiastic meetings were held—the principal speaker being Dr Minifie, a gifted American speaker.

The various missionary and philanthropic agencies have carried on their special activities during the year, with their accustomed zeal, and the annual reports submitted at their respective annual meetings show that during the latter part of the year the work had been largely increased in connection with War Relief.

The Y.M.C.A. and the Y.W.C.A. also report a successful year's work.

In the neighbouring parish of Collieston the Rev. A. Murray Scott, Aberdeen, has been elected to succeed the late Rev. J. P. Berry in the pastorate of the United Free Church. Our townsman, the Rev. Harry L. Bruce, was translated from Alva to the important charge of Leigh-on-Sea Congregational Church.

During the year there were several sales of work in connection with various churches and organisations. The sums realised were:—Ladyloan U.F. Church, £86; Inverbrothock Parish Church, £56; Inverbrothock U.F. Church, £48 15s; Erskine U.F. Church, £43. The Town Mission annual sale brought out a record result—the sum of £91 being realised. The appeal on behalf of the Home and Foreign Missions by the Women's Presbyterian Association also met with a liberal response.

PRESENTATIONS AND SOCIAL EVENTS.

During the year a number of testimonials to prominent citizens and public officials have been presented as a mark of the community's appreciation. The proposal to suitably commemorate Provost Alexander's long and honourable services to the town was put forward in January, and was most enthusiastically taken up. It was arranged that a presentation portrait should be painted, and Mr George Harcourt, Bushey, formerly of Hospitalfield Art College, was given the commission to paint a portrait and replica. The ceremony of presentation took place at a large public meeting in the Public Hall on September 10th, on which occasion Mrs Alexander was also presented with a handsome silver tea service, kettle, oak-mounted tray, and Crown Derby tea-set; the gifts being handed over by Provost Rutherford Thomson.

At a complimentary dinner given to Mr D. McNeill, on his retirement from the position of Chief Constable, he was presented with a valuable silver tea service and tray. Mr P. C. Smith, Burgh Surveyor, was on the occasion of his leaving Arbroath for Dunfermline made the recipient of a handsome inlaid bureau with silver purse bag for Mrs Smith, from members of the Town Council, town's officials and friends, and with a handsome time-piece from the tradesmen in town. Other presentations included:—Sergeant-Major Wood, a silver tea-service from officers and men of the 5th Black Watch, on his removal to London; Mr Ch. Hopkins Ould, a gold watch from members of Choral Union, on his departure for Canada. Mr David Greig, saddler, the oldest shopkeeper in High Street, was presented with clock and other gifts, by customers and friends on his retirement after a business career of 45 years. On his appointment as stationmaster at Barry, Mr G. C. McIntyre, booking clerk at Arbroath, was made the recipient of a handsome gold Albert by his many friends.

HONOURS AND APPOINTMENTS.

Amongst the more important honours that have been conferred on townsmen at home there falls to be recorded the promotion to the judicial bench of Forfarshire of ex-Provost Alexander as Honorary Sheriff-Substitute, and the addition to the list of County Justices of the Peace of ex-Provost Alexander, the Rev. James Murray, Dr D. Laing, and Messrs John Duncan, Norman McBain, James R. Aitken, James Law, James Hood, James Jack, and John Barr, East Seaton. In military circles Captain G. F. Bowes Lyon was appointed to the adjutancy of the 5th Black Watch, which is now doing valiant duty on the continent. Several Arbroath Commissioned Officers in the Battalion have also recently been promoted to higher ranks. In police work Sergeant William Wilson was promoted to the position of Inspector, a vacancy having been caused in the inspectorships of the constabulary by the death of Inspector John Suttie.

Amongst honours to non-resident Arbroathians was the appointment of Lord Inchcape as chairman of the P. & O. Steamship Company. Sir Frederick William Duke, son of the late Dr Duke, St Vigeans, and a distinguished administrator of Indian affairs, was appointed by the Secretary of State for India, to a position on the Council of India. Mr D. S. Lowson, Stirling, was entertained at a public dinner by his professional brethren in recognition of the valuable services he had rendered for many years to the cause of education.

There have also been a few retirements from important positions held by Arbroathians. Mr William Harris, after 33 years' service retired from the position of principal of the Board of Trade District Office and Emigration Officer for Glasgow and West of Scotland. Mr Tom Stewart, Calcutta, resigned the deputy superintendentship of Alipore Jail, which he had filled since 1874; Mr David McNicoll retired from the First Vice-Presidency of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which he had held since 1903, though still retaining his position as a director of the Company. Locally the Dundee and Arbroath Railway Company lost a popular and valued servant in the retirement of Mr Alexander Ogilvy, who had been in their service for 48 years, 37 of which he was a guard on passenger trains.

In Masonic circles Companion W. Kinnear, Royal Arch Chapter Hope

(No. 9) was presented with the M.E.Z. jewel, and Bro. George R. Ogilvy, who for about ten years efficiently discharged the duties of secretary of Lodge St Vigean (No. 101), had his faithful services recognised by the presentation to him from his brethren of a Past Secretary's gold jewel for himself and silver tea-service for Mrs Ogilvy. In Free Gardenry Bro. A. Gibson, St Paul's Lodge, was presented with a Past Master's gold jewel, and Chief Ranger David Watt was presented by Aberbrothock Court of Ancient Order Foresters with an easy chair.

OBITUARY.

Death has claimed many well-known personalities in Arbroath during the past year. Amongst Arbroathians at home and abroad, there were few who did not feel a sense of personal loss by the death, after a very brief illness of Mr C. Y. Myles, merchant tailor. Mr Myles' talents as a singer, his fine social gifts, and his cheery, charitable nature made his presence always welcome in whatever circle he entered. Mr Myles passed away at the comparatively early age of 58, deeply regretted by a very large number of close personal friends as well as by the community generally.

A tragic series of deaths was that of the Messrs Fairweather, of the firm of Samuel Fairweather & Sons, boot manufacturers, Abbey Leather works. On March 23rd, after a long and painful illness, Mr James Fairweather died at his residence in Broughty Ferry. Within twenty-four hours after, his brother, Mr Samuel, who had not been in good health for some time, died at the family home at Hawthornbank. To Mr Samuel Fairweather, senior, who had been in failing health, the death of his two sons was a heavy blow, and though able to move about and even to give some attention to the claims of his very extensive business for some little time thereafter, he never recovered from the shock, and died at Hawthornbank on June 30th, in his 78th year.

Mr David Chapel, who was the oldest legal practitioner in the Burgh, died in the first week of July at the age of 86, and another well-known number of the legal profession in Arbroath passed away in October in the person of Mr A. D. Anderson, Fernlea. Mr Anderson was a former Provost of the town, and for some years had been an Honorary Sheriff-Substitute. He was also widely known in Masonic circles.

Another widely-known Arbroathian who passed from our midst, after a long period of ill-health, at the age of 65 was Mr John Geddes, photographer, who in his time took a big share in the social and artistic life of the town.

As an artist Mr James W. Herald was known far beyond the confines of his own county, and his death at the age of 55 years, brought forth numerous and well-merited appreciations of his genius as a colourist, from art lovers all over the country. Shortly after his death, the proposal to commemorate this artist by the purchase for Picture Gallery of one of his works, was set on foot, and several handsome subscriptions towards the scheme have been made.

Other worthy Arbroathians who have crossed the bourne are:—

Robert Smith, fisherman (77), a hero of the American civil war; David S. Napier, telephone inspector; Geo. B. Salmond (58), David Brown (84), Bridge Street, a Crimean veteran; Inspector Suttie (48), Thomas J. Guthrie (78), J. H. Clark (63), Robert Rust, cemetery superintendent; Robt. Boath (88), Rosebank; William Brand (84), slater; John Hunter, F.E.I.S. (58); John W. Aitken (56), R. S. Smith (75), corkcutter; Dr Robert Soutar (55), Captain W. Newey, Salvation Army (27); William Balfour (86), merchant; James Glen (91), William Dorward, colporteur.

Amongst well-known Arbroathians who had found a home in other parts, and who passed away during the year are:—P. Charles Carraghar, Alloa (59); Charles Lewer, Philadelphia (56); Thomas L. Mason, librarian, London (58); Mrs Sheret, Glasgow (70); Mrs Peebles Chaplin, of Colliston Castle; Alexander Hutton, banker, Dundee (80); William Fletcher, Aberdeen (75); James O'Kane Murty, Indian Judge.

POLITICAL.

Politically the year has been a quiet one. The Socialist party in the Burghs decided to contest the Burghs when opportunity offers, and Mr James Maxton, teacher, Barrhead, was adopted as their candidate. The Unionist party have invited Mr John Hossell Henderson, M.A., LL.B., advocate, to represent their interests when a contest takes place, but the demand for a united front in the face of our common enemy has meantime called a truce to further action by all parties.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

Music and the dramatic art has been well supported by local amateurs. The Choral Union gave a fine performance of the sacred cantata, "The Woman of Samaria." Several good juvenile representations of operettas were given; the Dramatic Society gave a clever performance of "A Tight Corner"; and a magnificent tableaux-vivants entertainment was held on behalf of St Margaret's Parish Church. The school musical festival and singing contest, arranged by Mr T. Adamson, L.R.A.M., was an event of outstanding importance; the winners were, Minnie Hamilton, Macdonald medallist, and Thomas Forbes, Renny medallist. Mr Sydney Baines, F.R.C.O., L.R.A.M., was appointed Choral Union conductor in succession to Mr Chas. Hopkins Ould; and Mr Owen Jarrell was appointed organist at St. Mary's, on the departure for Burton-on-Trent of Mr A. W. K. Plant, A.R.C.O.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Amongst other events which have marked the progress of the year there may be noted,—the series of three popular lectures in the Public Hall by members of the staff of the Scottish Museum; the inspection of the Boys' Brigade in June, by Captain G. F. Bowes-Lyon of the 5th Black Watch; the Territorial Church Parade, also in June, in which six units took part in the service in the Parish Church; a sand-building competition and Co-Operative Rally at the Sands; the presentation of Royal Humane Society's Medal to Mr Alan Strachan for a gallant act of life-saving at the Bathing station.

Though the year 1914 closes amid the din and smoke of battle, we may look forward to the coming of better days, and with the hope strong that the early months of 1915 will see the cessation of hostilities we wish our readers

A Happy New Year.

The Job-Printing Department

Is furnished with a Carefully-Selected Stock of the Best Productions of the Type-Founders' Art. The Machinery is Modern, and Fitted with every appliance for the Execution of Work of the Most Artistic Style.

Here are one or two Opinions upon Printing turned out at the ARBROATH HERALD OFFICE :

The Glasgow Herald says — "The Office of the Arbroath Herald may be congratulated on the handsome appearance of their books, which, in all respects, are QUITE EQUAL TO THE BEST WORK OF MOST OF THE LEADING LONDON PUBLISHERS."

The British Printer says — "Printing work of Messrs Brodie & Salmond exhibits a wide range of typography, from name cards up to books, all executed with good taste and workmanlike skill."

An H.M. Inspector of Schools writes — "The pamphlet is a most excellent bit of letterpress work. I did not think that printing work so excellent in every respect could be done outside large cities."

Dr Moxey, the Distinguished Elocutionist, says — "The programme pleases me exceedingly. The arrangement is quite original in style, and altogether happy. The whole get-up is admirable."

The John o' Groats Journal says — "As pretty a pamphlet from the printers' point of view as we have ever seen."
